Announcements

The announcements page can be displayed in several ways:

- Click on Announcements link in the Tools menu on the left hand side of the main "AC Blackboard" page
- Clicking on a link in the My Announcements module of the AC Blackboard page
- Clicking on the more announcements link in the My Announcements module on the AC Blackboard page
- Clicking on an announcement link under a course name in the My Courses module

All the announcements instructors post will be listed on the announcement page for the students in their classes. Users can select which announcements to display:

- Institution Announcements
- Courses and Organizations
- View all

In addition, users can filter the Courses and Organizations announcements to show only those for a specific Course or Organization.
You can also view the announcements for a single course by opening that course and clicking on an announcement link or the more announcements link in the My Announcements link on the course home page.

For some courses the instructor will set the Announcements page as the default page when one enters the course site. For example if you clicked on the link for your Computer Science113 course, the first page in the content frame may be the Announcements. If this is the case there will be an Announcements link on the course menu.
